Short Summary (important points)
---

Brand-new online journal (not-for-profit nature) whose main aim is to disseminate knowledge provided by experts in security and intelligence, since knowledge is a tool for prevention and can help people be more critical towards violent radicalism. The way to do it is by: promoting a culture of security in society; knowing and supervising possible recruiting places (prisons, social networks...); training educators and other prison staff for an early detection; creating an attractive counter-narrative that puts youngsters away from the radical message; investing in de-radicalisation programs.
